SHELTON TO PRESENT TELEVISED SERIES

Beginning January 9, Shelton State will present the first in a series of televised programs offering cultural enrichment to the West Alabama area. The first series of video-taped productions will feature Dr. Charles D. Perry, Professor Emeritus of Classical Languages, The University of Alabama, who will speak on Greek and Roman mythology, "Ye Gods." This particular series of lectures will be aired weekly in 30-minute segments on WCFT-TV on Sunday evenings at 10:30 p.m. over a 16-week period.

Dr. Perry's reputation as a master teacher of Greek and Roman mythology extends much further than the West Alabama area. For over 24 years, Dr. Perry taught over 124 students each semester in each of his classes.

This series of lectures by Dr. Perry will be sponsored by local businesses as well as Shelton State. Feedback on the course will be possible through efforts initiated by Shelton and Dr. Perry. Books and fliers will be available through the mail and a contest of original myths is being planned.

POLICY STATEMENT REGARDING STUDENTS WHO FAIL TO RETURN MATERIALS CHECKED OUT OF THE LIBRARY

Beginning Winter Quarter 1982, library debts incurred by students who fail to return library materials will be considered debts of the college. After one quarter, students with library debts will not be allowed to register until those debts are cleared by the director of the library. The college will not release transcripts, process graduation applications, etc., of such students until their library debts are cleared with the director of the library.

THE SCHOLARSHIP COMMITTEE OF SHELTON STATE COMMUNITY COLLEGE will meet on Wednesday, December 8, in room 87 at the junior college. The televised series on Greek and Roman mythology as well as the Miss Shelton State Pageant will be discussed. Anyone interested in meeting this group of community leaders is invited to attend.

SCROOGE COMES TO TUSCALOOSA

The Punch and Judy Players will present their version of Charles Dickens' "A Christmas Carol" on Saturday and Sunday, December 11 and 12, at the Bama Theater. The play under the direction of Susan Carol Brown will feature man familiar names and faces at Shelton State. Performances will be at 2 p.m. and 8 p.m. on Saturday and 2 p.m. on Sunday. Price of admission is $2.50.

MUSIC NOTES

Add a little sophistication to your education by attending the Wednesday concert series in the music room. On Wednesday, December 8, a group of instrumentalists and their instructor, Henry Rubin of the University of Alabama faculty, will present a short chamber music concert from 11 a.m. until 12 noon. Presented on the program will be music by Mendelssohn and Beethoven. Be a friend and come!

On December 14, the Shelton Singers will present their Christmas concert in the auditorium at 7:30 p.m. The program will feature highlights from the Madrigal Dinner and carols old but new! The choir is under the direction of Everett McCorvey.

Congratulations to Shelton student Sharon Riggs for winning the regional competition in roller skating. We are very proud of this very talented student. We will keep you posted if Sharon and her partner if they enter the national competition.

AEROBIC DANCING SCHEDULED WINTER QUARTER

Aerobic dancing classes will begin December 6 for a ten-week period. Time scheduled will be 12:30 - 1:30 p.m. on Monday - Thursday and Tuesday - Friday. The cost is $30 for the course and according to instructor Cheree Causey, you'll feel "just great." Contact Margaret Hinton in the office or Cheree Causey, 556-2541, if you are interested in registering.

NOTICE! THE SHELTON STATE BUSES will not run December 17. Please make your plans accordingly.

NOTICE FROM SHELTON'S SECURITY FORCE

Please use your car sticker and apply the sticker so that the number is clearly visible. This will help in many ways. Be sure and check at night if you are here to be sure your lights are cut off. Please respect the handicapped parking, fire land, and the faculty parking lot on the side of the building.

BESSIE GERMAN WAS THE KEYNOTE speaker recently at a PTA meeting in Greensboro High School - East. Mrs. German was also a counselor at Sunshine High School during National Education Week. Linda Chambers Harris was the guest speaker for this meeting.

SHELTON'S BRUCE BIZZOCO WAS ONE OF THE JUDGES FOR THE RECENT WEST ALABAMA "LITTLE MISS CHRISTMAS PAGEANT."

CHILDREN'S ART ON EXHIBIT

Have you noticed the recent art exhibit in the Shelton library? The children from the child development center have had their splash paintings and potato prints on display from November 29 through December 3. The exhibit, sponsored by Shelton honorary Phi Theta Kappa, was termed a huge success by all the exhibitors. PTK hosted a small "Opening" for the "artists" on Friday, December 3.

AFRO AMERICAN CULTURAL ASSOCIATION RETURNS FROM TRIP

The Afro American Cultural Association at Shelton State recently returned from a cultural trip to Tuskegee Institute and Alabama State University. During their visit to Tuskegee, the students were shown the college campus as well as a tour of the Carver Museum where numerous scientific studies and projects by George Washington Carver were exhibited. The students also toured the "Oaks," home of Tuskegee Institute founder, Booker T. Washington, and viewed a film on the life of Washington.

At Alabama State University, A²CA president, John Mills, reports that the students were also given a warm reception and a tour of the campus. Comments on the trip indicate that it was a wonderful experience.

UNIVERSITY ART FACULTY EXHIBIT AT SHELTON

Art works by members of The University of Alabama art department faculty are currently on exhibit in the library at the junior college. The exhibit, consisting of a variety of artistic media, will open to the public on December 6 and continue through January 7.

Works by artists Richard Brough, Henry Betak, Tom Barnes, Gay Burke, Chris Kakas, Art Oakes, and Al Sela are included in the exhibit.

The exhibit will be open the weeks of December 6-10, 13-17, and January 3-7 from 8 a.m. - 4 p.m. On December 20-21 and 27-29, the exhibit will be open from 9 a.m. - 3 p.m.

NEW FACES AT SHELTON STATE

The MONDAY REPORT would like to welcome Bryan Glankler and Kathy McClelland to Shelton State Junior College. Glankler will be working with the cooperative education and job placement program and holds the distinction on being Randy Jarrell's brother-in-law. McClelland is working in the counseling center and calls Moundville home. We are happy to have both of you!

TECHNICAL TALK

Ed.'s note: Although Shelton State Junior College and Technical Division are both part of Shelton State Community College, they are very different in theory and in practice. As editor of the MONDAY REPORT, I have been visiting the Technical Division learning more about their programs. Over the next few weeks, I hope to share some what I have learned with you. Each week, I plan to focus on a particular program at the Technical Division.

Cosmetology is one of the oldest and most popular programs of the Technical Division. Under the leadership of instructor Peggy Sexton, the program encompasses 80 - 100 students continually. The night program has 30-40 students and the day program around 50. Sexton hopes that in the future they will have an experimental lab. Junior college instructor Dr. Sherer works with the students in the cosmetology program to determine the effects of chemical such as peroxide on the hair. There is a waiting list of six months to one year to be accepted into the program.
